Product Description

Big Green Egg Solid Acacia Hardwood Table for Large EGG

The Big Green Egg Solid Acacia Hardwood Table for the Large EGG is a handcrafted outdoor kitchen table built from solid planks of genuine acacia hardwood. Each table is assembled from naturally shaped acacia planks with unique grain patterns and color variations, meaning no two tables are identical. The Acacia Table transforms the Large Big Green Egg into a complete outdoor cooking station with generous counter space on all sides for tools, ingredients, and serving equipment. The EGG is placed in the table's center opening on a Table Nest (sold separately) to ensure proper airflow beneath the EGG and to protect the wood surface from heat transfer.

Solid Acacia Hardwood Construction

Acacia is one of the hardest and most durable commercially available hardwood species, which is why Big Green Egg selected it for outdoor table applications. The wood's natural density makes it highly resistant to moisture absorption, dimensional warping, and the surface wear that comes from outdoor use. Each plank used in the Acacia Table is solid acacia rather than laminated or engineered wood, which means the table retains its structural integrity even as the wood surface weathers over time in outdoor conditions. Acacia's natural oils provide some inherent resistance to the moisture cycling that causes softer woods to check, split, or deteriorate rapidly in outdoor settings. The naturally shaped grain and unique color variations in each plank give the table a handcrafted appearance that cannot be replicated in mass-produced furniture.

Integrated EGG Opening and Table Nest Requirement

The Acacia Table includes a centered opening sized for the Large EGG. The EGG is placed in this opening seated on a Table Nest, which elevates the EGG to the correct height above the table surface and creates the airflow gap between the EGG base and the wood below. The Table Nest is a required component for this installation and is sold separately. Placing the Large EGG directly on the wood table surface without a Table Nest creates a fire risk from the heat generated at the EGG base during high-temperature cooking sessions and would void any installation warranty. The Table Nest positions the EGG so that the bottom draft door is accessible for temperature control and so that the EGG band sits at a height compatible with the table surface.

Counter Space and Outdoor Kitchen Functionality

The Acacia Table surrounds the Large EGG with solid wood work surface on all accessible sides. This counter space provides room for ingredient preparation, seasoning and sauce staging, tool placement, and plating finished food during cooking sessions. Having this preparation surface integrated directly into the EGG table eliminates the need for a separate side table or folding station adjacent to the grill, which simplifies the outdoor cooking area and creates a more coherent outdoor kitchen layout. The warm appearance of the acacia wood gives the table an inviting character that complements a variety of outdoor furniture styles and patio aesthetics.

Caster Compatibility

The Acacia Table is compatible with the Big Green Egg Caster Kit (2-inch and 4-inch models available separately). Installing casters in place of the table's leg feet allows the entire Acacia Table with the EGG in place to be rolled to a new position on a flat patio surface. This mobility is useful for repositioning the cooking station due to wind direction, shade availability, or entertaining layout changes.

Care and Maintenance

Acacia hardwood used outdoors benefits from periodic treatment with a food-safe wood oil to replenish the natural oils in the surface and maintain the wood's resistance to weathering. When not in use for extended periods, covering the Acacia Table with a protective cover helps preserve the finish and extends the time between required treatments. The table surface can be cleaned with a damp cloth between uses. Any spills from cooking should be wiped promptly to prevent staining of the acacia grain.
