Product Description

Big Green Egg Table Nest for 2XL EGG

The Big Green Egg Table Nest for the 2XL EGG is the required mounting component for installing the 2XL EGG in a table, custom outdoor kitchen island, or any flat surface through which the 2XL EGG is built in. The Table Nest elevates the EGG above the surrounding surface to create the airflow gap beneath the EGG needed for safe heat dissipation and unobstructed access to the bottom draft door. The Table Nest provides vertical support within the table opening; the surrounding table or island structure provides lateral containment. It must not be used as a standalone floor support for the 375-pound 2XL EGG.

Safety Requirements for the 2XL

The 2XL Big Green Egg is the heaviest and largest EGG in the lineup, and the heat it generates at its base during high-temperature cooking is correspondingly substantial. The Table Nest for the 2XL is sized and constructed to provide the required elevation and airflow gap for the 2XL's larger base diameter. The metal stand creates clearance beneath the 2XL EGG that prevents heat from transferring directly into a wood or composite table surface and allows air to reach the bottom draft door freely. Without the Table Nest, a 2XL table installation would lack both the heat protection required for safe operation and the draft airflow needed for accurate temperature control.

Critical Installation Safety Notice

The Table Nest must be used in conjunction with a table or built-in surround for all 2XL EGG installations. The surrounding structure must be constructed from non-combustible materials: concrete block, stone, tile over concrete backer board, or stainless steel. The 2XL EGG must not be placed directly on a wood or combustible surface under any circumstances. The Table Nest's low-profile design is not intended as a free-standing support and will not provide stable support for the 2XL EGG's weight without a surrounding table or island structure to contain the EGG laterally.

Custom Installation Compatibility

The 2XL Table Nest is the appropriate mounting component for custom outdoor kitchen installations where a contractor builds a masonry or concrete island or countertop with an opening for the 2XL EGG. The Table Nest sits in the opening and supports the EGG at the correct height, and the surrounding non-combustible structure provides the lateral support and aesthetic finish of the installation. Big Green Egg provides installation guidelines for contractors and builders specifying the 2XL EGG for custom built-in applications.

Specifications

Material: metal. Compatible with 2XL Big Green Egg (375 lbs / 170 kg). Required for all table and built-in 2XL EGG installations. Not suitable for use as a standalone stand. Must be used within a table or non-combustible surrounding structure. Provides heat protection and airflow gap for 2XL EGG base draft door. Cleanable with a damp cloth.

In-Table Integration for the 2XL EGG

Installing the 2XL Big Green Egg in a table using the Table Nest for 2XL EGG creates an outdoor cooking station at the largest scale available in the Big Green Egg lineup. The 2XL EGG's cooking capacity, combined with the convenience and appearance of an in-table installation, produces a backyard cooking facility suited to serious entertaining, catering, and large-scale barbecue projects. The Table Nest provides the properly engineered support and retention system that makes this installation safe and long-lasting.

Weight Support and Structural Integrity

The 2XL EGG is the heaviest ceramic kamado in the lineup. The Table Nest for 2XL EGG is designed to handle this weight within a table cutout, distributing the load to the table's support structure and keeping the EGG secure through heating and cooling cycles and years of regular use. Using the correct Table Nest for your EGG size is essential for protecting both the EGG and the table from damage that can result from improper support.

The Foundation of a Large-Scale Outdoor Kitchen

Paired with Big Green Egg tables or custom outdoor kitchen builds, the 2XL EGG in a Table Nest configuration becomes the centerpiece of a high-capacity cooking facility that is both functional and visually impressive. The clean, integrated look of an in-table EGG installation elevates the entire outdoor space while keeping the cooking workflow efficient and organized.
